

Institute of Translation and Interpreting

An event arranged jointly by ITI and the University of Westminster, with support from the National Networks for Translation and for Interpreting.

Starting Work as a Translator or Interpreter

Are you interested in working as a translator or interpreter, but unsure how to start?

This one-day seminar will provide the answers.

You will hear about:

- the qualities and skills you need to work as a translator or interpreter
- how to get organised – and where to find help
- breaking through the 'no experience = no work' barrier
- areas where your language skills are in demand, and new niches to explore.

There will be question-and-answer sessions and time for networking.

Date and time: Saturday 7 June 2008, 10am-5pm

Venue: University of Westminster
309 Regent Street
London W1B 2UW
(close to Oxford Circus tube)

Fee: Free for students; £20 for ITI members;
£25 for non-members. The fee includes VAT, lunch and refreshments.
