

Jason Willis-Lee MITI

Spanish and French to English Translation
Specialist in Medical Translation Services

“Combining expert medical knowledge, with a linguist’s commitment to getting every word right.”

What I can offer you

I will help you to create accurate, engaging English versions of your Spanish and/or French medical texts. With my expert support, you’ll be free to concentrate on what you do best.

As a client of mine, you’ll be able to call on my academic background in physiology and my post-graduate diploma in translation. You’ll also have access to all the practical skills and knowledge I’ve gained in my 17 years as a professional translator. To find out more, please get in touch today.

What my clients say

“For the projects on which I have worked with Jason it was a pleasure to have him on the team. He delivered our audio voiceovers before the agreed deadline with an extremely high quality. We feel very secure when working with him and his personal manner could not be better.” (Project Manager, January 2017.)

“Jason performed a rigorous and professional piece of work within the required deadline. The quality of his work boosted the work group’s confidence to submit our research to a prestigious international journal with the necessary quality in terms of linguistics. He also made several valuable suggestions during the process. All in all, a highly professional job.” (Author-investigator, January 2017.)

“The translation of medical papers into English by the authors themselves is an arduous and time-consuming task. For this reason, I contacted Jason Willis-Lee by means of LinkedIn and the service rendered was both excellent and fast. (Author-investigator, June 2016.)

Some career highlights so far

- Bicultural - lived and worked in Spain for 17 years
- Bachelor of Science in Physiology after three consecutive years’ medical study
- Postgraduate diploma in Translation and Interpreting
- 17 years’ professional experience in translation and editing
- Workshop facilitator in professional associations
- Commitment to Continuous Professional Development

Areas of expertise

I offer you a range of outstanding translation and interpretation services. They include:

- Clinical trial documentation: Translation of clinical trial protocols, informed consent forms, patient information leaflets and research ethics committee correspondence
- Research articles: Translation of numerous research articles in the fields of dermatology, neonatology, psychiatry and internal medicine
- Voiceovers: English voiceovers of specialised medical seminars in Spanish

Get in touch today

To discover more about my expert translation services, please email me at jason@jasonwillislee.com.